 Made-in-Missouri

Ripped from the newspaper headlines! Historic Sappington House is pleased to welcome Anne Williams' one-act play, taken from letters to the editor of the Missouri Gazette. In 1818 and 1819, the paper printed dueling letters from two St. Louis lawyers and the supposed

"Farmer from St. Charles." Entertaining and informative, the half-hour skit talks about the Missouri Compromise and how Missouri entered the Union 200 years ago.

To further celebrate Missouri, the Loft Gift Shop upstairs will offer items made in Missouri, some locally hand-crafted by our artisan consignors. The shop will be decked with everything for holiday gift-giving.

The Cow Cocoon authors will read their children's book about the Holstein calf Truman to the delight of listeners. Missouri and Sappington House gingerbread cookies will be given to the first shoppers in the Loft.

Join us at The Barn restaurant at 1015 S. Sappington Road 63126 for the play starting at 2:15 pm and light Barn refreshments.

An original Missouri Gazette, the first issue published west of the Mississippi River, will be on display as well as the traveling Missouri Bicentennial State Park quilt.

In addition at 3:45 pm, we will move to the flower garden to dedicate the new engraved-brick pathways honoring friends and family. At such time, orders may be placed for phase 2 of the brick-by-brick project.

There is no entrance fee for this event, but we hope you shop!
